Program Basics

The Importance of Ombudsmen to Commands

The intent of the Navy Family Ombudsman Program is to improve mission readiness through improved family readiness. Ombudsmen provide communications, outreach, resource referrals, information and advocacy to and for command families. These services benefit:

- Command mission. Service members can better focus on mission readiness and their responsibilities when they know their families have a reliable safety net. This leads to improved job performance and improved operational readiness.
- Military lifestyle/Sailor retention. The services an ombudsman provides help ensure that families have the information necessary to meet the challenges of a military lifestyle. Reducing stressors and promoting resiliency can influence the service member's decision to remain in the Navy.
- Quality of life. The Ombudsman Program supports the Navy's philosophy of "taking care of its own." Giving service members and their families access to an ombudsman who can offer information and support is essential and exemplifies the Navy's core values and philosophy.

The Origin of the Ombudsman Program

On Sept. 14, 1970, Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., the Chief of Naval Operations (CNO), issued Z-gram 24 (the 24th directive issued during his term as CNO), which established the Navy Family Ombudsman Program.

Commanding Officer's Responsibilities

Commanders and commanding officers (COs) execute the Ombudsman Program as required by OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2, Navy Family Ombudsman Program. Program management requires ongoing support, collaboration and communication with the command ombudsman. The ombudsman must have adequate equipment, materials and assistance to carry out her/his defined responsibilities and be kept up to date on command issues of interest to families.

In accordance with OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2, the CO's responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

- Appointing an adequate number of ombudsmen.
- Determining the ombudsman's specific roles and responsibilities.
- Providing the Ombudsman with a current Command Roster, including family member contact information.
- Assigning a command point of contact (POC) – usually the command master chief/chief of the boat (CMC/COB) or executive officer (XO) – for the ombudsman and determining which issues will be handled by the POC or the CO.
- Managing the Ombudsman Program. This includes funding, communicating with the ombudsman, ensuring mandated reporting (reportables) and ensuring that the program can be used effectively by command families.
- Attending ombudsman assembly meetings with the ombudsman.

The Ombudsman's Role

The roles and responsibilities of the ombudsman may vary from command to command. The CO defines the ombudsman's role and, with input from the command support team, determines how these functions will be accomplished. The Ombudsman Program should be tailored to meet the needs of each command. The ombudsman's standard responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

- Serving as a liaison between the command and command families.
- Keeping the command informed regarding the overall health, morale and welfare of command families.
- Regularly communicating with family members and distributing information between the command and family members.
- Providing information and referral to help command families with issues or concerns.
- Establishing and maintaining a current telephone tree/email discussion group or using the Careline to distribute and gather information.
- Creating a command-approved monthly or quarterly newsletter, or contributing to a command-approved column in appropriate command-sponsored publications.
- Representing the command at ombudsman assembly meetings.
- Maintaining accurate records on the performance of ombudsman duties.

Note: Ombudsmen are taught to recognize, refer and report (as required). Ombudsmen are not expected to know the answer to every question. The subject matter expert at the appropriate resource will answer specific questions and provide guidance as needed.

Ombudsmen should not:

- Transport people in their privately owned vehicles.
- Provide child care.
- Lend money.
- Allow people in need of services to stay with them in their home.
- Hold an office or leadership position in the Family Readiness Group (FRG).
- Coordinate command-sanctioned homecoming activities.
- Do for command families what they must learn to do for themselves.

The Ombudsman's Role in Crisis and Disaster Response Plans

Include ombudsmen in all disaster-preparedness plans and in disaster-preparedness exercises. The ombudsman is often the first person contacted by affected family members during an emergency or disaster. Ombudsmen should have a role in the establishment of emergency family assistance centers (EFAC) or community support centers. All ombudsmen should be included in disaster preparedness exercises.

The CO should:

- Provide explicit guidance on the policies and the expectations of the ombudsman during a crisis.
- Inform the ombudsman immediately and provide updates in the event of a command crisis or emergency.

Ombudsmen responsibilities before, during and after a crisis may include:

- Encouraging families to update contact information with the Navy Family Accountability and Assessment System (NFAAS).
- Educating Sailors and families on emergency/disaster preparedness.
- Serving as the POC for affected family members. Families may be instructed to contact the ombudsman once they have arrived at a safe location.
- Recording contact information to help the command keep track of the locations of command families.
- Identifying affected families during a crisis. With a current command roster, the ombudsman can search for affected families by ZIP code.
- Providing accurate information and updates between the command and the command families.
- Ensuring that command families have reliable sources of information and referral.
- Answering information or crisis phone lines.
- Staffing the Emergency Family Assistance Center (EFAC) and/or community support centers.
- Supporting Sailors and families during the recovery phase.

Ombudsmen should:

- Assist others as much as possible but should not put themselves or their families at risk.
- Seek assistance from other ombudsmen via the FFSC Ombudsman Coordinator or the ombudsman assembly chair if an emergency affects them personally.

Ombudsman Code of Ethics

Ombudsmen must adhere to a strict code of confidentiality to protect the privacy of individuals and maintain the credibility of the Navy Family Ombudsman Program. Confidential information is sensitive information about a Sailor or family member that is kept within the CO's designated network of those who have a need to know.

The Ombudsman Code of Ethics is the essential foundation upon which an ombudsman's credibility is established and maintained.

The Ombudsman Code of Ethics states that ombudsmen must:

- Maintain confidentiality.
- Support the command's mission.
- Work within the chain of command.
- Maintain the highest standards of professionalism.

Reportables (Non-Confidential Information)

Confidentiality does not mean that the ombudsman keeps all information from the CO or those who have a need to know. Issues that the ombudsman must report to the CO and/or Navy and state entities are called "reportable" information.

All Department of Navy (DON) personnel, including ombudsmen, are mandated reporters (with the exceptions of chaplains and attorneys, who have privileged communication). This includes command leadership, child and youth services staff, security personnel, social workers, educators and health care professionals.

OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2 requires ombudsmen to report the following situations:

- All suspected or known child abuse/neglect.
- Alleged domestic abuse.
- Suspected or potential homicides, violence or life-endangering situations.
- All suspected or potential suicidal risks.
- All alleged sexual assaults.
- Other issues identified by the CO as reportable.

Allegations of domestic abuse or child abuse must be reported to the CO and the Fleet and Family Support Center (FFSC) Family Advocacy Program (FAP). Allegations of sexual assault must be reported to the CO and the Sexual Assault Response Coordinator (SARC).

Note: The CO/POC may be required to notify FAP or the SARC. Ombudsmen will also make these calls, even if it results in a duplication of effort.

COs may instruct ombudsmen to report other situations to them, out of concern for the welfare of the command's Sailors and families. These issues should include those that affect a Sailor's ability to do his or her job. These may include:

- Financial problems.
- Serious health concerns.
- Severe marital or family discord.
- Housing or other installation problems.

The safety and well-being of an individual takes precedence over one's right to confidentiality. If the ombudsman believes that the life, health or safety of an individual is in imminent danger, the ombudsman is required to report the situation immediately. Ombudsmen should call 911 or base security.

Reporting Options

As of August 2007, adult victims of domestic abuse incidents have two reporting options.

- Restricted Reporting. A Restricted Report can only be received by a FAP clinician, victim advocate or health care provider, who can then offer a Restricted Report as an option. (If the report is made to anyone else, including an ombudsman, the report becomes Unrestricted.) A Restricted Report allows an adult victim to seek medical services and counseling and access other resources without involving the command or security in the incident. FAP and health care personnel will discuss the benefits and limitations of a Restricted Report with the victim so he/she can make an informed decision. The victim can use advocacy and counseling services to explore their options and can take their time deciding when or whether they want to involve others. A victim always has the option to change a Restricted Report to an Unrestricted Report.

Note: When a reportable situation is disclosed to an ombudsman, a Restricted Report is no longer an option.

- Unrestricted Reporting. An Unrestricted Report may be made to security, an ombudsman or the service member's chain of command and may be followed by administrative action.

Ombudsmen are part of the command support team (CST); therefore, once an adult victim reports an incident of spousal/intimate partner abuse to an ombudsman, there is no longer the option for a Restricted Report. In many cases, the victim begins by discussing their dissatisfaction with the relationship or alludes to a "big fight" without going into specifics about the incident. The ombudsman is responsible for informing the alleged victim of their mandate to report abuse. When possible, the ombudsman should attempt to help the victim limit disclosure and encourage them to call FAP to report the incident. This will allow the victim to retain the option for a Restricted Report. If the victim proceeds to disclose, the ombudsman should inform the service member or family member that they are required to report the allegation of abuse.

Victims of domestic abuse who want to pursue an official command or criminal investigation of an incident should use current reporting channels (chain of command, FAP or law enforcement). Victim advocacy services and FAP clinical services will be offered to the victim and, at the victim's request, any forensic medical examination deemed appropriate will be performed.

When notified about reportable issues or life-endangering situations, the ombudsman should act immediately. The ombudsman should report to the CO or his/her designee, and to the respective agency or law enforcement.

Program Structure and Key Players

Chief of Naval Operations	Appoints Ombudsmen-at-Large, who advise the CNO and MCPON on issues affecting Sailors and families.
Commander, Navy Installations Command	Maintains policy, establishes procedures and implements the Ombudsman Program by providing training and maintaining an automated data collection system.
Region/Base Commander	Establishes Region Ombudsman Advisory Boards (ROAB) to advise on issues related to the Ombudsman Program. Sponsors the Ombudsman Assembly to provide ongoing training and assistance.
Commanders and Commanding Officers	Execute the Ombudsman Program per the OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2.
Fleet and Family Support Center Ombudsman Coordinator	Provides support services to the local Ombudsman Program. Coordinates training and serves as a resource to commands for ombudsman recognition and appreciation.
Command Support Team	Includes the CO, XO, CMC/COB, chaplain, their spouses and command ombudsmen. CO appoints a POC (usually XO or CMC/COB) for the ombudsman to manage the program's day-to-day activities. Appointed in writing and assigned specific roles based on experience and relevant skills. Leadership spouses may attend Ombudsman Basic Training to better support the program.
Reserve Command Ombudsman Support	Appointed for each Navy Operational Support Center (NOSC); additional ombudsmen may be appointed for individual units. Coordinate transition of ombudsman responsibilities from Reserve Component Command to active component during mobilization.
Ombudsman Program Advisory Group	Working group of senior representatives from OPNAV, CNIC and FFSP. Ombudsmen-at-Large are encouraged to attend. Includes representatives from other activities to advise on policy, special projects and curriculum development.
Ombudsmen and Family Readiness Groups	Ombudsmen handle official business for command families and provide information-and-referral services. FRGs support families by providing social and morale-building activities.

Ombudsmen and Family Readiness Groups

FRGs operate separately from the ombudsman. However, ombudsmen and FRGs may collaborate on behalf of the command in several ways:

- Provide information, resources and referrals.
- Communicate official information from the command.
- Inspire camaraderie and support other families.
- Advertise meetings and events in the ombudsman newsletter and through social media sites or other means of communication to help ensure families are aware of FRG activities.
- Help families adjust to challenges.

Recruiting an Ombudsman

Upon assuming command, the CO must appoint a command ombudsman. Understanding the requirements and process before appointing an ombudsman helps to ensure the selection of highly qualified applicants.

COs may appoint as many command ombudsmen as they choose. Many opt to have at least two ombudsmen, to ensure accessibility and share responsibilities. Reserve commands should appoint at least one ombudsman to each Navy Operational Support Center (NOSC). Additional ombudsmen may be assigned to Navy Reserve units within the NOSC.

Per OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2, COs are responsible to appoint a sufficient number of ombudsmen to provide required services to command families. The minimum guidelines are:

- 1–250 command personnel: at least one ombudsman.
- 250–1,000 command personnel: 2–3 ombudsmen.
- 1,000+ command personnel: 4+ ombudsmen.

Note: Small commands having few family members may arrange with other commands, or the installation command, to share ombudsman services (OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2).

Ombudsman Eligibility and Attributes

To be eligible for appointment as an ombudsman, the following criteria must be met:

- Is the spouse of an active-duty or Selected Reserve (SELRES) member of the command, either enlisted or officer.
- Must be seen by the command families as accessible, approachable and functional.
- Has greater credibility and adapts to the role more readily with several years' experience as a Navy spouse.

For a list of desired attributes when selecting ombudsman candidates, see Ombudsman Qualities and Attributes, in Appendix B.

Recruitment

When recruiting, illustrate the significant role the ombudsman fulfills for the command and emphasize the command's support of the program. Recruitment strategies include:

- Word-of-mouth.
- Announcements within the command (at quarters, within plan of the day [POD]).
- Announcements to spouses on the command website.
- At FRG meetings.
- By email or direct mail.

Position Announcement

The recruitment focus should be on reaching potential candidates directly, via command and family members, and from ombudsmen at other commands. The recruitment message should encourage candidates to apply and invite others to share the announcement with those who may be interested.

The position announcement should be visually interesting and appealing to potential candidates. It should include:

- Primary duties.
- Eligibility criteria.
- Contact information.
- Application format.
- Application deadline.

To generate interest, phrases such as the following may be used:

- Wanted: caring and committed Navy spouse for the position of command ombudsman for (name of command).
- Do you like helping Navy families? The crew and families of the (name of command) need your help!
- Do you know a spouse of a (name of command) Sailor who is caring and a good listener?

COs may ask the candidate to submit a résumé, or a simple application/questionnaire may be used.

Position Description

COs should tailor the ombudsman's responsibilities to meet the specific needs of the command. Position descriptions vary slightly for different commands but may include the following. Ombudsmen:

Note: A sample position description can be found in Appendix B.

- Support command families:
 - Provide information-and-referral services.
 - Represent command families and serve as a primary point of contact.
 - Advocate for families to access the appropriate level of the chain of command and forward suitable requests or grievances.
- Serve as the primary communication link between families and the command, and channel official information from command leadership to families. Communication duties include:
 - Composing and editing a hard-copy or electronic (monthly or quarterly) newsletter.
 - Creating/maintaining an updated telephone tree/email distribution list.
 - Maintaining an updated Careline with basic command information.
 - Providing presentations at indoctrination, pre-deployment programs, family nights, FRG meetings, etc.

 - Submit Ombudsman Monthly/Quarterly Worksheets as required by OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2.
 - Submit reimbursement requests to the designated POC monthly.
- Attend FRG meetings.
- Perform optional duties as assigned by the CO, including, but not limited to:
 - Assisting in the organization and implementation of the command welcome program by briefing new Sailors and family members at command indoctrination and/or preparing an introductory letter to be enclosed in sponsor packets.
 - Representing the command on committees, boards or working groups — both civilian and/or military.
- Follow all requirements outlined in OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2.

Ombudsman Interview Process Checklist

Appointing the right candidate to the position of ombudsman is a critical factor in the success of the command's Ombudsman Program. Use the following checklist as a guide for interviewing ombudsmen candidates.

BEFORE

- Predetermine the length of the interview (typically 60–90 minutes).
- Develop written questions relevant to the position. Ask all candidates the same questions in the same order.
- Select interviewers. Ensure all interviewers have a list of the questions and are familiar with the knowledge, skills and abilities being assessed during the interview.

DURING

- Introduce interviewers to the candidate.
- Explain the purpose of the interview, the duties of the position and your expectations. Share the position description. Be sure to address:
 - Duties and responsibilities.
 - Confidentiality and reportables.
 - Command support team.
 - Funding and reimbursement.
 - Ombudsman's role during a disaster or emergency.
 - Communication methods, including command roster, phone tree or email distribution, and newsletter.
- Take detailed notes to compare candidates' responses.
- Ask one question at a time. Ask follow-up questions, if needed, for clarification.
- Assess the candidate's ability to fulfill the ombudsman's role and "fit" with the command support team.
- Ask behavior-based questions that indicate the applicant's experience and their responses to challenging situations.
- Avoid:
 - Using acronyms that may be unfamiliar to the applicant.
 - Asking leading questions (e.g., "You do like working with people, don't you?").
 - Posing hypotheticals (e.g., "What would you do if ...?" or "How would you handle ...?").

AFTER

- Explain the next steps in the process and when ombudsman will be selected.
- Rate each candidate before interviewing the next. If more than one interviewer is involved, discuss ratings and try to reach consensus following the interview.

Ombudsman Waivers

COs may find that there are no suitable spouses available to serve as ombudsman. Should this happen, the CO may request a waiver to appoint an ombudsman who is not a spouse of a serving command member. Candidates may include:

- A parent or family member of a single Sailor who lives near the command or has a close connection to the command. The family member must have the requisite skills, can attend training and can perform the assigned duties.
- Active duty, former active duty (within two years), civilian or spouses of civilian members of the command who demonstrate unique abilities and interest.
- A family member of a retired command member who was an ombudsman and has demonstrated interest and abilities.

Note: The spouse of an active-duty service member that has transferred to another command is not eligible for a waiver.

Submit waiver requests and the region or immediate superior in command (ISIC) endorsement to the Commander, Navy Installations Command (CNIC) Ombudsman Program Coordinator at ombudsman.registry.fct@navy.mil.

Reserve commands should submit the waiver request and region endorsement to the Reserve Family Program Manager at james.d.warren@navy.mil. Mr. Warren will provide the Navy Reserve Forces Command (RESFORCOM) endorsement and forward the request to CNIC for approval.

For further guidance, see the OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2, Enclosure (1).

- Meet at end of the probationary period to conduct an evaluation and determine suitability for continuing as command ombudsman.

4 APPOINTMENT LETTER

- Provide a signed copy of the letter to the ombudsman.
- Send a copy to the local FFSC Ombudsman Coordinator.

- Authorizes appropriated funds for specific purposes; non-appropriated funds are used to improve the morale and welfare of military personnel and families.
- Complete Parts I-III at the beginning of service. The form must be signed by the CO and the ombudsman.
- Sign Part IV at the termination of service.
- Maintain volunteer records for three years.

6 OMBUDSMAN REGISTRY

- Register ombudsmen when they are appointed. Update as changes occur.
- Provide a unique email address for each ombudsman. Ombudsmen are identified in the registry by their email addresses.
- Submit a support case request to the Ombudsman Registry Administrator if you wish to reuse an email address when ombudsmen leave.
- Refer to the Ombudsman Registry Instruction Guide for Commanders/Command Designees on the login page of the Ombudsman Registry for assistance.

Professional Turnover

Turnover occurs when an ombudsman's spouse transfers, is discharged, retires, the ombudsman can no longer perform her/his duties or the CO terminates an ombudsman.

A letter of resignation from the ombudsman is required whenever there is a change of command. Sample letters of resignation are contained in the Ombudsman Program Manual. The new CO may ask the ombudsman to remain until a new ombudsman is trained or may reappoint the existing ombudsman.

Information and items that should be discussed or transferred to the new ombudsman include:

- Contact logs or other written documentation.
- Newsletter production process.
- Directions for use of the Careline.
- Turnover of any command-owned equipment and supplies.
- Procedures for alerting families to the change in ombudsman.
- Any other topics that might affect families.

In addition, the Ombudsman Registry must be updated with the newly assigned ombudsman's information.

Termination for Cause

Reasons for termination for cause may include:

- Any violation of the Ombudsman Code of Ethics.
- Theft of equipment or making false claims for reimbursement.
- Inability to work effectively as a member of the command support team.
- Unavailability to command family members.
- Failure to report a mandated reportable issue.

Supporting the Command Ombudsman

The Getting Started Checklist in Appendix B includes topics of importance to ombudsmen and command leadership. COs should meet with their ombudsman to discuss questions or items on the checklist that require clarification and input.

Ombudsman Registry

The Ombudsman Registry is a centralized system designed to enhance reporting between the command and ombudsmen and to provide additional data about the Ombudsman Program. It allows CNIC to deliver real-time communication and information to commanders, ombudsmen and ombudsman coordinators and serves as a repository for essential program data. Region commanders can pull and use the “Reports” function to review registry compliance throughout the region.

The Ombudsman Registry is used to:

- Maintain a database of contact information in the event of natural disasters or crisis situations.
- Facilitate the collection of program data, such as hours expended, types of inquiries from families and tracking of ombudsman training.
- Provide statistical data to COs for commands that fall within their area of responsibility (AOR).
- Assist commands and ombudsmen with resources and up-to-date program information.

Additional functions of the Ombudsman Registry include:

- A “Contact Your Ombudsman” feature, which enables service members and their families, as well as ombudsman coordinators, to contact their ombudsman for services and receive updated information. This feature can connect families to their new ombudsmen during a permanent change of station (PCS).
- Real-time communication via bulletins. CNIC can send information to all registered ombudsmen, commanders, command designees and ombudsman coordinators.
- A “Support” feature, which can be used to seek advice and assistance.

Commanding Officer Responsibilities

The OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2 states that all COs will:

- Ensure ombudsman information is added to the Ombudsman Registry as soon as the official appointment is made.
- Update information as changes occur.
- Register the command with the registry.
- Ensure that the required worksheet data are submitted.

The registry identifies ombudsmen by email address. Each ombudsman must have a unique email address. To reuse the email address of the outgoing ombudsman for the incoming ombudsman, COs must send a support case request to the Ombudsman Registry Administrator at ombudsman.registry.fct@navy.mil. The administrator will remove the email address from the registry so it can be used to register the incoming ombudsman.

Ombudsmen cannot self-register. They may only be registered by:

- Commanders/command designees or the command POC.
- FFSC Ombudsman Coordinators.
- Reserve Component Command Warrior and Family Support Specialists (RCC WFSSs).
- Ombudsman Registry Administrators.

COs and POCs who need assistance should submit a support request from the Ombudsman Registry login page. The Ombudsman Registry Administrator will respond within 24-48 hours.

Ombudsman Coordinators

The Ombudsman Registry enables the ombudsman coordinator to maintain an up-to-date ombudsman roster. Ombudsman coordinators can assist in monitoring registered personnel and developing the master ombudsman roster for their area of responsibility (AOR).

Ombudsman coordinators:

- Have registry access to the commands within their AOR and should ensure that all commands have completed the required actions.
- Should, when given a copy of the ombudsman's appointment letter, help COs or their designees register ombudsmen.

Ombudsman Monthly/Quarterly Worksheet

The Ombudsman Monthly/Quarterly Worksheet is an automated database within the registry that tracks hours spent and the types of contacts completed by ombudsmen. The data collected on the worksheets enables CNIC to update the Ombudsman Program to ensure that commands and ombudsmen have the resources needed to assist Navy families, especially during a crisis. Installation and region COs can use data from worksheets to assess the health of their command families. The worksheets also document trends, utilization of resources and time spent.

Goal 4 of the Navy Family Framework states: "Command leaders will identify family readiness challenges." Ombudsman worksheets capture this information. COs can tailor training and provide support to families based on the data recorded in worksheets.

Additional information for COs and their designees about submitting Ombudsman Monthly/Quarterly Worksheets can be found in the Ombudsman Registry Instruction Guide for Commanders/Command Designees. The guide is located on the login page of the Ombudsman Registry, under Instructions & Procedures, at "Commanders/Command Designees," <https://ombudsmanregistry.cnic.navy.mil>.

The metrics collected from the worksheets help determine:

- Benefits and savings to the Navy for using the services of volunteer ombudsmen.
- Justification and allocation of funding.
- Specific region and Navywide training requirements.

Note: Personally identifiable information (PII) is not included on the worksheet. The worksheet only provides a count of contacts, categories and hours completed by each ombudsman.

Submitting Worksheets

Since the Ombudsman Registry's conversion to the common access card (CAC) in August 2016, ombudsmen cannot log in to the registry. CAC cards will not be issued to ombudsmen.

Ombudsman Responsibilities

Once ombudsmen have completed their worksheets, they must save the file name as the five-digit unit identification code (UIC), month and year.

- Example: 12345Feb2017 (for active-duty ombudsmen, use month and year)
- Example: 888552ndQtr2017 (for Reserve ombudsmen, use quarter and year)

Ombudsmen must:

- Enter the correct UIC or the worksheet will not upload to their command. If ombudsmen are not sure about their UIC, they should check with their command POC.
- Email their completed worksheets to their command POC, carbon copied to the Ombudsman Registry Administrator at ombudsman.registry.fct@navy.mil.

The Ombudsman Registry Administrator will be the backup for the command if the command has problems uploading its worksheet, or the command is deployed and does not have access to the registry.

Command Responsibilities

The CO/designee must ensure that the worksheets have been uploaded to the Ombudsman Registry. Once the worksheet has been received from the ombudsman, follow the instructions below:

- Save the worksheet to a file.
- Log in to the Ombudsman Registry.
- Click on the "My Commands" tab.
- Click on the "View Worksheets" link in the right-hand column next to the command name.
- Click on the green plus sign next to "Import Worksheet Excel."
- Click on the "Browse" box to open the computer files.
- Select the file where the worksheet has been saved.
- Double-click on the worksheet file to upload.
- Click on the "Submit" button to upload the worksheet.

If the worksheet was filled out correctly, the message "Successfully Imported File. View Imported Worksheet" should appear.

If the worksheet fails to load or an error message appears, such as "UIC does not match," make the necessary changes to the worksheet and try loading it again.

If the error message continues, the numbers can be manually added to a worksheet by following the instructions below:

- Open the worksheet submitted by the ombudsman.
- Log in to the registry and click on the "My Commands" tab.
- Click on the "View Worksheets" link in the right-hand column next to the command name.
- Click on the green plus sign next to "Add Worksheet."
- Select the correct month (active duty) or quarter (Reserve) from the drop-down menu.
- Select the correct year from the drop-down menu.
- Click on the "Create Worksheet" button.
- Transfer the numbers from the ombudsman's Excel worksheet to the created worksheet.
- When finished, click on the "Submit Worksheet as Final" button to save the file.

For any additional problems, please contact the Ombudsman Registry Administrator by using the "Support" tab located on your dashboard.

Worksheet Deadlines

Active-duty ombudsmen must submit monthly worksheets. Reserve ombudsmen must submit quarterly worksheets.

Deadlines for the submission of worksheets are as follows:

- Active-duty ombudsmen will submit monthly worksheets no later than the 15th of the month following the end of the reporting month. (Example: March worksheets will be submitted no later than April 15.)
- Reserve ombudsmen will submit quarterly worksheets no later than the 15th of the month following the end of the quarter. (Example: January-March worksheets will be submitted no later than April 15.)

Command Rosters

Ombudsmen should not be expected to gather contact information for their command families. This should be provided to them per the Navy Family Ombudsman Program instruction. Without this information, ombudsmen are unable to fulfill their assigned role. As a result, both the command and the command families will not receive the support they expect. This is supported by:

- OPNAVINST 5380.1C, Acceptance and Use of Voluntary Services in the Navy, and U.S. Code Title 5, Section 552a, Records Maintained on Individuals, provide for the release of roster information to the ombudsman without the consent of the individuals listed when the ombudsman is acting in an official capacity.

- Paragraph 4 of NAVDMIN 216/17, Ombudsman Appreciation Day, states: “Commanders, you have an important role in ensuring your Ombudsmen are ready to serve and are successful. Commanders shall communicate with their Ombudsman regularly to gauge command families’ morale, health, and welfare and to share command information that is relevant to our Navy families. OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2 directs commands to provide an updated roster of command family members in order to relay official information directly related to family readiness. Commanders should make every effort to support their Ombudsman by fulfilling all requirements as set forth in OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2.”
- U.S. Code Title 10, Section 1588 (Authority to accept certain voluntary services), subsection (d), states that DON volunteers such as command ombudsmen are considered DON employees for purposes of the Privacy Act of 1974. Specifically, subsection (a) permits the DON to accept voluntary services for “family support services,” and subsection (d) states that such volunteers will be considered federal government employees for purposes of Section 552a of Title 5 Privacy Act. Subsection (d) states that volunteers of non-appropriated fund instrumentalities (NAFIs) will only be considered employees for the purposes of claims for damages and work-related injuries.
- DoD Instruction 1100.21, Voluntary Services in the Department of Defense, states that privacy-protected records may be provided to a volunteer of a DoD component other than NAFIs.
- OPNAVINST 5380.1D, Acceptance and Use of Voluntary Services in the Navy, states that a person providing “properly accepted” volunteer services to the DON will be considered a federal government employee to the extent specified in U.S. Code Title 10, Section 1588 (Authority to accept certain voluntary services) and DoDI 1100.21. OPNAVINST 5380.1D also states that access to privacy-protected records “may be provided to a volunteer of a Navy activity other than a NAFI.”

As an appointed DON volunteer, ombudsmen may receive privacy-protected information, such as recall rosters, without prior consent of the individual because ombudsmen have an official need to know this information to perform their official duties. Per the OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2, ombudsmen duties include “providing communications, outreach, resource referral, information, and advocacy to and for command families.”

Funding the Ombudsman Program

The OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2 requires that the command ombudsman receive adequate equipment, materials and funding support. The CO should establish specific funding resources for support of the Command Family Ombudsman Program. Before the ombudsman’s appointment, a budget line item for reimbursement of ombudsman expenses should be submitted to the type commander (TYCOM). The funding line item to support the Ombudsman Program may use appropriated funds (APF) or non-appropriated funds (NAF).

The CO or POC should work with the command ombudsman to determine a realistic budget for the program. A list of reimbursable items should be agreed upon in advance by the CO and the ombudsman. Some costs are fixed, such as a phone line or internet service. Others must be estimated, such as the number of hours of child care the ombudsman needs monthly or how far he/she will be driving on official business, etc.

Items that may be funded include:

- Recognition. NAF, if available, may be used for individual ombudsman appreciation dinners, plaques and awards. The NAF limit is $50 per ombudsman per year, not to exceed a total of $500 (multiple ombudsmen) per Morale, Welfare and Recreation (MWR) fund per year. Cash awards are not authorized.
- Administrative support. Items such as office supplies, copier services, clerical assistance, command telephone cards and government vehicle transportation may be provided from APF or NAF as command resources permit.
- Newsletters. Costs for the production and delivery of ombudsman newsletters may be funded. If produced in-house, the command is responsible for the cost of production and delivery. If printed and delivered by Defense Logistics Agency Document Services, <https://www.dso.documentservices.dla.mil/DSF/storefront.aspx>, the command must provide funding.

Reimbursable expenses should be for items necessary for the Ombudsman Program to function effectively. These expenses should be agreed upon by the command in advance. Reimbursable expenses include child care (not to exceed the local rate charged by the Child Development Center [CDC]), mileage, parking and tolls paid at the current government rate, communication equipment, such as computers and phones (command maintains ownership), internet service, telephone lines and travel expenses.

To receive reimbursement, an ombudsman must document the expense and submit OF 1164, Claim for Reimbursement for Expenditures on Official Business. Travel expenses may be reimbursed for command-authorized participation in training, conferences, etc. Invitational travel orders must be issued by the command before travel takes place. DD Form 1351-2, Travel Voucher or Subvoucher, may also need to be submitted for travel reimbursement. Copies of these forms can be found in Appendix B.

Troubleshooting Ombudsman Issues

Issues may arise related to a specific situation with an ombudsman. These issues may be between the ombudsman and command leadership, between individual ombudsmen or between an ombudsman and a family member. A Sailor, family member, another ombudsman, the ombudsman coordinator or the ombudsman may report a situation.

Command leadership should address issues with command ombudsmen as soon as they are made aware of the situation. COs should meet with the ombudsman to get additional information. It is important to:

- Obtain a factual account of the situation.
- Determine whether the OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2 applies in this instance. Did the ombudsman act within or outside guidance?
- Consider available options. For example, would the ombudsman benefit from further training?

Every attempt should be made to work out a viable solution. The FFSC Ombudsman Coordinator can provide support to the command and the ombudsman on dealing with difficult people or situations.

Ombudsman Training

The command ombudsman, a volunteer position, plays an essential role that requires the best training possible to ensure success for both the command and the ombudsman. Commander, Navy Installations Command (CNIC) has established training requirements that will only be provided by CNIC-qualified trainers using the approved curriculum.

TRAINING OPPORTUNITIES

Ombudsman Communication Tools

Frequent and open communication from the command is key to the morale of Sailors and their families. Communication from the command to family members often occurs through the command's ombudsman. The commanding officer (CO) should determine the type and frequency of the ombudsman's communication with command members/families.

Ombudsman Appreciation

It is important for COs to recognize and appreciate the ombudsmen. Ombudsmen who are valued and respected are more likely to remain involved with their commands. Recognition is a public acknowledgement of the ombudsman's efforts in support of the command. COs should personalize recognition of the ombudsman, if possible. Informal recognition is as important as formal recognition. Appreciation is demonstrated through ongoing support and engagement with the ombudsman.

Appropriate ways to thank ombudsmen include recognition at a command event, a token of appreciation or with a base-sponsored event for all area ombudsmen. Ombudsmen are volunteers. Volunteer appreciation does not need to be restricted to a single day, it is an ongoing interaction.

Ombudsman Appreciation Day—Sept. 14

Ombudsman Appreciation Day is celebrated annually on Sept. 14, or the preceding Friday if the 14th falls on a weekend. Commands are authorized to celebrate the event at any time during the month of September or as soon as possible thereafter. Many installations hold an areawide recognition event, often in conjunction with Ombudsman Appreciation Day.

The CO may use non-appropriated funds, if available, for individual ombudsman appreciation dinners, ombudsman plaques and awards. Expenses through non-appropriated funds are limited to $50 per ombudsman per year, not to exceed a total of $500 per year (for multiple ombudsmen). Cash awards are not authorized.

Examples of ways COs can demonstrate appreciation for ombudsmen include:

- Supporting the program personally, especially by investing their time, such as meeting with the ombudsman regularly or attending ombudsman events.
- Valuing the ombudsman's opinion and advice.
- Commending ombudsmen, in writing or in person, and providing official recognition at command functions and in publications.
- Celebrating Ombudsman Appreciation Day.
- Presenting a personally written letter of commendation or certificate of appreciation.

Appropriate tokens of appreciation include:

- A plaque inscribed with the ombudsman's name, the date and a message of appreciation.
- A photograph of the command, with signatures and personal notes of thanks.
- Command items (e.g., hat, keychain, T-shirt).
- Flowers.
- A recognition lunch or dinner at the command, club or restaurant. Other attendees may include the command leadership, their spouses and the ombudsman's spouse.

Additional low-cost ways to recognize and support ombudsmen include:

- Posting the ombudsman's picture on the quarterdeck as part of the command leadership's pictures.
- Mentioning the ombudsman on the command's social media page.
- Providing the ombudsman with business cards.
- Sending the ombudsman a birthday card.

Mrs. Sybil Stockdale Ombudsman of the Year

In 2015, the Navy launched the annual Mrs. Sybil Stockdale Ombudsman of the Year Award, which recognizes four outstanding ombudsmen. The Office of the Chief of Naval Operations (OPNAV) established the award to honor the service of Navy family ombudsmen. These ombudsmen maintain the highest standards of professionalism and create a healthy sense of community by being positive role models for command members and their families. Award recipients exhibit selfless dedication and service to the command families.

The award is named for Mrs. Sybil Stockdale, the wife of Vice Adm. James Stockdale, who was held prisoner for seven years during the Vietnam War. Mrs. Stockdale created the National League of Families of American Prisoners in Southeast Asia to provide support for families of prisoners of war (POWs) during her husband's internment. The Navy recognizes Mrs. Stockdale's commitment to military families through the award, and her service to Navy families is carried on by the more than 2,000 ombudsmen currently serving worldwide.

Criteria for the Ombudsman Award Nominee

All active-duty and Reserve command ombudsmen who have served for more than one year and were registered in the Ombudsman Registry during their time of service are eligible for the award. Nominees are recommended by their CO and must:

- Facilitate excellent communications between the command and its families (including, but not limited to, providing direct communication to families through newsletters, email, etc.).
- Maintain the highest standards of professionalism and confidentiality.
- Be a positive role model for command members and their families.
- Assist in identifying command needs for support services and provide appropriate referral services to Sailors and family members needing assistance.
- Promote a healthy sense of community among Sailors and their family members within the command by encouraging participation in command events and fostering communication between family members.
- Serve as a principal source of assistance and support to Navy families during times of local or national emergency, mobilization, deployment or evacuation.
- Demonstrate consistent compliance with training, data collection and required reports submitted on behalf of the command per OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2.

Candidate Procedures for Nomination

The CNO issues a NAVADMIN annually that announces The Sybil Stockdale Ombudsman of the Year Award nomination/selection process and presentation requirements for the current calendar year. The award is presented to one ombudsman from each of the following categories:

- Afloat command (Commander, U.S. Fleet Forces Command [COMUSFLTFORCOM]).
- Afloat command (Commander, U.S. Pacific Fleet Command [COMPACFLT]).
- Ashore command.
- Reserve command.

The nomination submission process is like the Sailor of the Year process:

- All deployable forces within Atlantic Fleet will submit nomination packages to the U.S. Fleet Forces (USFF) point of contact (POC).
- All deployable forces within Pacific Fleet will submit nomination packages to the Pacific Fleet (PACFLT) POC.
- All Reserve units will submit nominations to Commander, Navy Reserve Force Command (CNRFC) POC.
- All OPNAV direct-report naval shore activities will submit nomination packages to the OPNAV POC.

*USFF, USPACFLT, CNRFC and OPNAV will provide POC contact information to CNIC. A list of POCs will be emailed to all COs and command POCs via the Ombudsman Registry.

Commanding Officer Responsibilities

COs will verify that the command ombudsman meets the criteria and is eligible to be nominated for the award, and will complete the nomination package, to include the following documents:

1. A cover letter: A sample can be found at www.cnic.navy.mil/OmbudsmanOfTheYear.
2. A description of the ombudsman's accomplishments, not to exceed two written pages, addressing the criteria set forth in the NAVADMIN and in the standard operating procedures found on the CNIC website at www.cnic.navy.mil/OmbudsmanOfTheYear.
3. A brief biography of the nominee.
4. A letter from the Fleet and Family Support Center (FFSC) director or Reserve Component Command (RCC) confirming the nominee's involvement in ombudsman assemblies, advanced training, registration in the Ombudsman Registry, and completion of Ombudsman Monthly/Quarterly Worksheets.
5. Additional supporting information (e.g., a letter of support for nomination from former COs, the command POC or the command support team, letters of appreciation presented by COs or command family members).

The nomination package must be submitted to the designated POC by the dates indicated in the current year NAVADMIN. The NAVADMIN and additional information about the award can be found on the CNIC website at www.cnic.navy.mil/OmbudsmanoftheYear.

Appendix A: Frequently Asked Questions

Q: My ombudsman is going through training and wants to be registered in the Ombudsman Registry now. I want to wait until training is complete. Which is correct?

A: Ombudsmen may be registered in the Ombudsman Registry at <https://ombudsmanregistry.cnic.navy.mil> upon appointment. Many COs prefer to wait until training has been completed to perform this step. This is up to each CO. If ombudsmen were not registered upon appointment, it is recommended that they be added as soon as training is finished.

Q: My ombudsman wants a pin and nametag. Where do I get those and when?

A: You will order a nametag as you do for your command members. The ombudsman logo pin can be purchased at the Navy Exchange or through their online site. These are typically presented to the ombudsman upon completion of Ombudsman Basic Training.

Q: My ombudsman wants to take eOBT, the online Ombudsman Basic Training course. Is it necessary to take the classroom training, too?

A: Ombudsman Basic Training is offered in two versions – classroom and online. Both courses are the same and both fulfill the training requirement outlined in the Navy Family Ombudsman Program instruction. Whichever course they choose to take must be completed in full, they may not be mixed. eOBT may be stretched over several months to accommodate scheduling and time zone conflicts.

Q: My ombudsmen share an email account, but the Ombudsman Registry will not accept duplicate emails. Do I only need to register one ombudsman?

A: Every ombudsman is required to be registered in the Ombudsman Registry. One of the ombudsmen will need to create another email account for the registry. Something simple, like subombudsman@gmail.com, works well.

Q: I have three ombudsmen and I want to have a primary or lead ombudsman with the other two assisting. They said this is not what they were taught in training.

A: They are correct. There is no hierarchy among ombudsmen; none have authority over others. They should be referred to as co-ombudsmen, with all three having access to you and the POC.

Q: We are deploying and may not be able to submit the Ombudsman Monthly/Quarterly Worksheets while we are underway. What should we do?

A: Your ombudsmen should email the worksheets to you, but copy the Ombudsman Registry Administrator at ombudsman.registry.fct@navy.mil. When the Ombudsman Registry Administrator sees that the worksheet has not been loaded, he/she will do that for the ombudsman. The ombudsman should state in the body of the email that the command is deployed and request assistance loading the worksheet.

Q: I do not want my ombudsman to have a command roster – there is too much PII with regard to my Sailors and their families.

A: OPNAVINST 1750.1G CH-2, f. (5) states that commanders and commanding officers will ensure that the command ombudsman receives a regularly updated command roster, to include inbound personnel and families. Without this information, ombudsmen are unable to contact and support the families they represent. NAVADMIN 046/18, 2. b., Command Ombudsman and Family Readiness Group Emergency Readiness and Response, also states that commanders will release command rosters listing current and inbound personnel and families to their ombudsmen.

Q: My Sailors do not want their family's personal information included on the roster without their permission.

A: NAVADMIN 046/18, 2.b., states that consent of the individuals listed is not required when the ombudsman is performing official duties. If the spouse (not the Sailor) tells the ombudsman they do not want to receive calls from the ombudsman, they can be marked for limited contact, but will still be contacted for emergent situations and official command messages.

Q: I have a very small command and cannot find a volunteer to serve as ombudsman. What are my options in order to be in compliance with the Navy Family Ombudsman Program instruction?

A: Small commands may share an ombudsman with another command as long as both commanding officers and that ombudsman consent. Both commands must issue an appointment letter, sign the DD Form 2793 (Volunteer Agreement) and register the ombudsman with their commands. Another option is to look for someone other than a spouse who may be willing to serve. This requires a waiver with region endorsement to be submitted to CNIC's Ombudsman Coordinator for approval from CNIC. See enclosure (1).

Q: I would like to know more about the Ombudsman Program, but do not have time to attend the training. Is there a way to learn more?

A: You may take the Ombudsman On-Demand Orientation, which is available on the home page of the Ombudsman Registry at <https://ombudsmanregistry.cnic.navy.mil> or the FFSP website under the tab for Ombudsman Program at https://www.cnic.navy.mil/ffr/family_readiness/fleet_and_family_support_program/ombudsman_program.html. This is a 60-minute overview of the Ombudsman Basic Training (OBT) course that covers the key points of OBT.

RMKS/1. The purpose of this NAVADMIN is to highlight the importance of the Command Ombudsman Program and Family Readiness Groups (FRG) in facilitating communications in support of our Navy families and to identify key commander responsibilities in order to make the most effective use of these valuable resources. Command Ombudsman and Family Readiness Groups, when trained and effectively implemented, bolster command readiness and resiliency during routine operations and in times of crisis. This was a critical lesson learned during the response to tragedies involving the USS FITZGERALD and USS JOHN S. MCCAIN in 2017.

2. Enabling your Ombudsman.

a. Commanders enable their Ombudsmen by fulfilling all the requirements set forth in references (a) and (b), including ensuring their ombudsmen are trained and ready to serve Navy families.

Commanders will communicate with their ombudsmen regarding command, installation, and region emergency response plans and ensure ombudsmen understand their role during a crisis or disaster. Per reference (b), commanders must ensure ombudsmen understand the role of the Casualty Assistance Calls Officer (CACO) and how the two programs work together to support affected families. For example, it is not appropriate for an ombudsman to accompany a CACO on the official notification visit or to contact the family about the casualty before CACO notification. However, after the CACO notifies the family, an ombudsman may offer support to the family through information and referrals.

b. Ombudsmen must be able to effectively communicate with command families to provide support, especially during times of crisis. As such, per reference (a), commanders will release command rosters listing current and inbound personnel and families to their ombudsmen. Consent of the individuals listed is not required when the ombudsman is performing official duties. Commanders are also required to register their ombudsmen in the Ombudsman Program Registry. Subject to Navy policy guidance, both appropriated and nonappropriated funds are authorized to support the Ombudsman Program. Communication equipment is an authorized expense, and commanders may approve cell phones based on need and funding availability.

c. Advanced training is required for all ombudsmen and should be conducted at the installation through Ombudsman assemblies and/or in coordination with the Fleet and Family Support Centers (FFSC). Topics include emergency preparedness and disaster response. Each region will ensure appropriate roles for ombudsmen are included in region and installation plans for disaster preparedness and when Emergency Family Assistance Centers are activated.

d. The Fleet and Family Support Program provides a variety of services to support and enhance the Ombudsman Program's effectiveness. FFSC staff members are assigned as Ombudsman Coordinators and provide training, serve as a source of information and referral, and help prepare ombudsmen to participate in crisis response.

3. Family Readiness Groups: Per reference (c), FRGs, although considered separate from the Ombudsman program, also serve as an integral part of the support network for Service Members and families. This network also includes ombudsmen, FFSC, chaplains, and other installation support services. To facilitate communication, Commanders will designate an officer, senior enlisted member, or civilian employee of the command as the official FRG command liaison. The command liaison will ensure FRG leadership understands their roles during crises or disasters.

4. Ethics Reminder: If approached with inquiries regarding gifts or donations, ombudsmen and/or FRG representatives should refer those inquiries to the appropriate command Ethics Counselor.

5. Summary and Way Forward: Commanders must ensure all requirements per references (a) through (c) are fulfilled and make every effort to encourage and bolster participation in these programs. Based on recent lessons learned, Commander, Navy Installations Command (CNIC) is currently reviewing and updating program policies, curriculum, webpages, and the Commanders' Guide. Please provide CNIC any recommendations you assess that will enhance these valuable programs. Additional information about the Ombudsman Program is available at www.ombudsmanregistry.cnic.navy.mil and www.ffsp.navy.mil.

SUBJ/2017 OMBUDSMAN APPRECIATION DAY//

RMKS/1. 14 September 2017 is a day set aside for Navy personnel and families to show appreciation to command Ombudsmen for their dedicated service to the fleet, fighter, and family. This practice goes back to the inception of the program in 1970, when ADM Elmo R. Zumwalt, Jr. introduced the Navy Family Command Ombudsman Program via Z-Gram 24.

2. The contribution Ombudsmen make to the success of the command's mission is immeasurable. Their efforts in supporting Navy families enable Sailors and commands to focus on mission requirements all while knowing families have a trained and reliable resource to provide support on the home front.

3. Ombudsmen, your diligence and steadfast commitment are unmatched. You are a key line of communication between the command and families, offering information and referral services that are essential to family readiness. On behalf of Navy families, thank you for your service!

4. Commanders, you have an important role in ensuring your Ombudsmen are ready to serve and are successful. Commanders shall communicate with their Ombudsman regularly to gauge command families' morale, health, and welfare and to share command information that is relevant to our Navy families. OPNAVINST 1750.1G (CH-2) directs commands to provide an updated roster of command family members in order to relay official information directly related to family readiness. Commanders should make every effort to support their Ombudsman by fulfilling all requirements as set forth in OPNAVINST 1750.1G (CH-2).

5. Navy team, please take the opportunity to express well-deserved appreciation and gratitude to these selfless volunteers who are so crucial to the success of our Navy. Make every effort to attend a recognition event near you.

6. Additional information about the Ombudsman Program is available at www.ffsp.navy.mil.

Ombudsman Monthly/Quarterly Worksheet FAQs

Q: What is the Ombudsman Monthly/Quarterly Worksheet?

A: The Ombudsman Monthly/Quarterly Worksheet is an automated database located on the Ombudsman Registry which tracks hours spent and types of contacts completed by ombudsmen.

Q: When are worksheets due?

A: Active Duty ombudsmen submit worksheets no later than the 15th of each month for the prior month. (i.e. June worksheets submitted NLT 15 July. Reserve Ombudsmen submit quarterly worksheets no later than the 15th of the month following each quarter (i.e. April – June worksheets submitted NLT 15 July).

Q: Are instructions available for completing worksheets?

A: Instructions for completing the Ombudsman Monthly/Quarterly Worksheet are posted on the log in page of the Ombudsman Registry at <https://ombudsmanregistry.cnic.navy.mil> in the lower left hand corner under the "Instructions and Procedures" section titled "Ombudsmen".

Q: Is training available for completing the Ombudsman Monthly/Quarterly Worksheet?

A: Commander, Navy Installations Command (CNIC) hosts quarterly webinars on how to complete worksheets. Registration for these webinars can be completed on the Learning Management System (LMS) <http://learning.zeiders.com>. Webinars are recorded and accessible on the LMS or via the Ombudsman Registry Forum.

Q: Is it a breach of PII to collect the data for the worksheet?

A: No, there is no collection of names or details. Specifically, the worksheet only provides a count of contacts, categories, and hours completed by each ombudsman.

Q: What is the benefit of the data collected on worksheets to the command/commanding officer?

A: The data collected on the worksheets provide the commanding officer with a snapshot of the command climate, both present and past. The worksheet may assist the CO to identify:

- Issues and concerns of command families.
- Trends during deployment versus non-deployment periods among family members.
- Training which may be beneficial to the command and families.

Q: How do ombudsmen benefit from the worksheet data?

A: Ombudsmen may attend web based or face-to-face training offered through the Fleet and Family Support Center to increase knowledge and resources based upon the types of contacts they frequently encounter. They may also select material to include in the command newsletter and resource binder based upon needs identified by families.

Q: What is the Navy-wide benefit of the worksheets?

A: The metrics collected from the worksheets help determine:

- Benefits and cost-avoidance to the Navy for utilizing the services of ombudsmen (volunteers), as opposed to assigning this function to a service member or a paid civilian employee.
- How program funding should be allocated.
- Specific region and Navy-wide training requirements.

The Ombudsman and Command Roster Utilization

Q: As a shore command why should I have an Ombudsman?

A: The Navy Family Ombudsman Program instruction, OPNAVINST 1750.1G, f.(2) states that commanders and commanding officers shall ensure that command family members have access to the services of an ombudsman.

Family members, regardless of deployment status, have questions about the military lifestyle and need assistance. In case of family crisis, disasters, or command emergencies, the ombudsman plays a key role in providing support for those affected. Every command needs to communicate with the families of their service members and the Ombudsman provides the conduit to reach them.

Q: Why should I provide my Ombudsman with a Roster?

A: OPNAVINST 1750.1G, f.(5) states: Commanders and commanding officers shall ensure that the command ombudsman receives a regularly updated command roster to include inbound personnel and families. References (d) (5 U.S.C. 552a) and (g) (SECNAVINST 5211.5E) provide for the release of roster information to the ombudsman without the consent of the individuals listed when the ombudsman is acting in an official capacity.

The ombudsman is a liaison between the command and the command families. The primary role of the ombudsman is that of a source of information and referral. In order to communicate with command families, ombudsmen must have the contact information for those families.

Q: How can I insure that the roster is utilized properly?

A: Commanders and commanding officers shall: Accept volunteer services from the ombudsman as an appropriated fund activities volunteer per reference (f) (OPNAVINST 5380.1C) by completing DD 2793 Volunteer Agreement for Appropriated Fund Activities and Non-appropriated Fund Instrumentalities with the ombudsman. OPNAVINST 1750.1G,f.(3)

- By accepting this signed agreement you are entrusting ombudsmen with the responsibility of handling the command roster.
- Commanders should establish a procedure and POC for roster updates and delivery, including their preference for storage and disposal methods for current and past copies of roster. EX. Provide roster at Assembly meetings and take the old roster for shredding.
- Ombudsmen receive PII training during OBT and advanced training is available on the Learning Management System to ensure they understand the importance of protecting the information.

Q: Can the command adjust the roster to fit the needs of the Ombudsman while protecting PII?

A: Yes, in order to provide support during a family or command emergency or disseminate official command information the Ombudsman needs contact information for service member's family to include the following:

- Name and rank/rate of service member
- Names of spouse and children living with the SM and separately
- Address, phone and email for spouse or designated family member
